

Integrated Visa Notifications

OVERVIEW

Business travelers simply can't afford to risk a cancelled trip or denied entry to a country when traveling internationally. But do they always know when or how to secure a visa or expedite passport delivery prior to departure? To ensure your corporate travelers have all the necessary documents well in advance of a trip, CIBT, the world's leading provider of visa and passport services, has partnered with GetThere. GetThere is the world's leading online travel, expense and meetings management solution for corporations.

This partnership makes a confusing and time-consuming process quick and simple. CIBT and GetThere deliver an industry-first: integrated, proactive and secure notifications when a traveler books a trip to a visa destination. Your travelers will automatically be alerted to what documents they need to enter a country, with easy-to-follow steps to securing these documents.

HOW IT WORKS

CIBT's solution is integrated into GetThere's shopping and booking process, helping ensure fast and efficient delivery of required travel documents. When travelers book a trip to a visa destination in GetThere, they will instantly see a notification in the booking path. Pulling from CIBT's proprietary database, the alert conveys the document requirements and easy-to-follow steps for completing all government-required paperwork.

With this information at hand, your travelers can quickly expedite the process and ensure they receive documents well in advance of a trip. Your travelers will also get support from CIBT's team of 900-plus travel visa and passport specialists, who individually review each application before it is submitted to an embassy or consulate.

CIBT has offices in 40 cities around the world.
